Asst. Superintendents Get Three Percent Pay Raise

By Julie M. Barry

The School Committee announced the salaries of the two assistant superintendents, Lois Haslam and Francis Paul, at their meeting Tuesday night.

Both Haslam and Paul will receive an annual salary of $62,000, which is about a three percent increase over last year, said committee member Margo Tilghman. "It puts them on a comparable level with those holding similar positions in surrounding areas," she said.

In addition, the two assistant superintendents will be eligible for bonuses. The School Committee has set up a $6,000 merit award pool, which will be given for exemplary work. The bonuses will be given no later than March 8, 1989. No more than $3,600 can be given to either individual and Tilghman said it's possible that only a portion of the pool may be used.

"It represents the School Committee's desire to establish a basis for recognizing individual ability...not just by salary," said committee Chairman Donald Robb.

Fund-raising activities and religious holidays were also topics of discussion at Tuesday night's School Committee meeting.

Students and parent organizations—the people directly involved with fund-raising activities, are going to work together to revise the 14-year old fund-raising policy now in effect at the Andover schools. It will then be submitted to the School Committee for approval.

While the new policy won't affect activities that are already planned, the School Committee hopes to have it in place by the end of this school year. That way, it will be effective for fund-raisers in the 1989-'90 school year.

Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert suggested updating the policy because he said the administration has been inconsistent in its approval and disapproval of fund-raisers under the existing policy.

"It's getting to a point where it's (fund-raising activities) excessive," Seifert said.

The current policy states that stu-

Andover Engineer Awarded Patents

Dr. Curtis A. Siller, Jr., of AT&T Bell Laboratories in North Andover, was recently awarded two patents for co-invention of circuit architectures that simplify the transmission and reception of signals in advanced data networks. Patent 4,736,389, entitled "Technique for Synthesizing the Modulation of a Time Varying Waveform with a Data Signal," and Patent 4,759,039, "Simplified Recovery of Data Signals from Quadrature-Related Carrier Signals," are expected to find broad application in communication systems ranging from voice and data to microwave digital radio.

Dr. Curtis A. Siller, Jr.

Siller joined Bell Laboratories in 1969 after completing studies at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, where he specialized in plasma physics and electromagnetic theory. His activities have since focused on exploratory aspects of aperture antennas, microwave propagation, digital communication theory, signal processing and transmission systems for voice/data networks. He has written nearly 40 publications in those areas and holds two earlier patents.

Siller is a member of five honorary and three professional societies, including senior member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. He was named a technical editor of a foremost communications journal in 1984 and received a Bell Laboratories distinguished technical staff award. He has planned and participated in numerous international conferences.

Siller resides in Andover with his family. His wife, Patsy, is a financial specialist with AT&T Bell Laboratories; their daughter, Deborah, is a student at The Pike School.

She expressed gratitude to the Andover Democratic Town Committee for promoting her re-election campaign as well as the campaigns of other Democratic candidates. Rep. Sue Tucker also attended and offered to do all she could to help other Democratic candidates. Marguerite Kane, candidate for County Commissioner, also spoke about her campaign.

To Discuss Survey Results

A forum on the results of the Secondary Parents Group survey, taken earlier this year, will be held Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the Andover High School cafeteria.

The forum will start with a brief review of the survey's background and will include commentary by the middle school and high school principals and the parents who administered the survey.

The survey was sent to households in Andover who had at least one child in junior high or high school during the 1987-'88 school year. Members of the Secondary Parents Group were responsible for developing the questionnaire, mailing it and compiling the responses.

Survey results include statistics gathered on responses to questions on curriculum, student placement, budget, communications and after-school activities.

"The intent of the survey was to encourage parents to participate in school activities and to support the schools in general," said Andy Salazar, co-chairman of the 1987-'88 Secondary Parents Group.

"The parents brought up a lot of important issues in the questionnaire and I believe that they need to be addressed by all parties involved — parents, teachers, students and administrators," Salazar said.

Issues brought up in the survey will be discussed at the forum and everyone is invited to attend, especially those parents who participated in the survey.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Using the bathtub for your newborn infant is seldom convenient, because it requires more water than necessary and you must kneel to use it. Instead, but an oval-shaped, plastic baby tub, big enough for the baby to kick and splash in. If you do use a plastic tub, make sure the counter will accommodate it. In the kitchen, you can set the tub on a drainboard or use the sink itself. A bathinette can be used and is a tub the height of a table, with a fold-down lid for drying and dressing. It usually is equipped with towel racks, compartments for diapers and space for soap and lotion.

State Sen. Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) and her Republican challenger, attorney William E. Melahn of Andover, will meet in a debate sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Andover tonight at 7 in the Andover High School cafeteria. This is the first time McGovern has had an opponent since her election in 1980 when she ousted the 40-year Democratic incumbent, Billy Wall. The general election for state senator in the second Essex and Middlesex district—Andover, Billerica, Lawrence and Tewksbury—is Nov. 8.

Eight-Year Senator Challenged By Andover Man

McGovern Stresses Record

By Julie M. Barry

Emphasizing her political accomplishments, Sen. Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) is on the campaign trail once again.

"We've put together a good campaign...we've worked very hard," McGovern said.

Campaigning, which began last May, includes public appearances, advertising and fund-raising activities.

For the first time in eight years, the general election for state senator will be a competitive affair.

"I run a very positive campaign," McGovern said. "I think the emphasis should be on who you are, what you stand for and what you'd do on the constituent's behalf, as opposed to being negative towards your opponent."

McGovern has been in office since the election in 1980 when she ousted the 40-year Democratic incumbent, Billy Wall, from office.

The general election for state senator in the second Essex and Middlesex district—Andover, Billerica, Lawrence and Tewksbury—has been uncontested during the last eight years.

Until now.

Republican William E. Melahn of Andover is running for state senator of this district, forcing McGovern to run an aggressive campaign.

"We have an opponent...I don't take anything for granted," McGovern's campaign manager, Mary Beth Heffernan, said.

McGovern's platform is based on her political accomplishments while in office. She has been involved with many local and statewide issues.

McGovern is responsible for state grants that fund projects in Andover.

Two recent grants are the Public Works Economic Development Grant and the Community Development Action Grant.

Money from the PWED grant has been used for the River Road project. McGovern said she has been involved with the state funding of this project since its inception in 1982.

McGovern was also responsible for getting the CDAG money, which is being used for the City North development project, on the corner of York and Haverhill streets.

McGovern also cited the state money that was used for commuter parking facilities on Route 28 in Andover.

She is chairwoman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee and the first woman to hold that position.

Being the chairwoman has been a plus for her constituents, according to McGovern. "It enhances my ability in getting grants or aid for the district," she said.

And she says it gives her the opportunity to take part in many broad-based policy initiatives, like the universal health care bill, the modernization of the court systems, environmental issues and, most recently, the auto insurance reform bill.

McGovern was one of four senators to draft the auto insurance bill, which was approved by the Senate on Monday and will go to the House next week. It represents a 16 percent savings from this year's rates by taking $400 million out of the system.

Though many special interest groups dislike the bill, McGovern says she's pleased with it. "It's a good first step," she said. "Frankly, it's long overdue...the public was very angry (about the high auto insurance rates)."

Sen. Patricia McGovern

Melahn: 'Good Government Comes From Competition'

By Frank Messina

If confidence could be turned into votes, William Melahn would make Ronald Reagan's 1984 presidential landslide seem like a shower of pebbles.

Although the North Andover-based attorney faces an uphill climb in the second district state senatorial race against Sen. Patricia McGovern, one of Massachusetts' most powerful Democrats, Melahn is not intimidated.

"This is an election, not a coronation," Melahn said. "I think people should run on their record, not their titles."

And straight for the incumbent's record he has aimed. From the opening gun, Melahn has run his campaign in the path blazed by George Bush's political machine. The major targets: taxes and the Massachusetts budget.

"This campaign is a mirror of the presidential election in the sense that we're (Bush and Melahn) both running against a liberal. And Sen. McGovern is a Dukakis-style liberal in a very real sense," he said.

Trumpeting endorsements from the Massachusetts Taxpayers Association and Citizens For Limited Taxation in his press releases, Melahn criticizes McGovern for "virtually never missing any tax increases in her 10 years in office."

Other releases have hit McGovern on basic Republican themes like the pledge of allegiance. Melahn also accuses the incumbent of holding up the recent auto insurance reform vote and constituent service.

But his message returns to focus on liberalism and taxes.

McGovern, said the challenger, is a person "who believes very strongly that if it moves, you tax it, then we'll worry about how to sort out the budget later on. I think that's exactly putting your priorities backward. We have to get the fiscal house in order before we worry about where we get the money from."

Melahn feels his message will sink in through the second district, which includes Andover, Lawrence, Billerica and Tewksbury, because the area "is far more conservative than the senator that represents it."

During his 18 years as a practicing attorney, Melahn has represented many small businesses and individuals. Working in law has given him a practical education that he says would serve the district well.

"I think it's important we go back to the concept of the citizen legislator—a person who has accomplished something in the real world—and they can bring some of those skills and experiences into the state legislature. Far too often in this state we have elected someone who has really accomplished nothing as far as the private sector."

Locally, Melahn believes in affordable housing because "you have people who grow up in a town and can't afford to find homes in it."

However, "we have to have some type of modification because we're getting complaints from people who feel the developers are taking advantage of the situation."

Melahn would also pay special attention to senior citizens. When his own father died two years ago, Melahn said he was agast at the intricacy of his father's financial affairs.

William E. Melahn

McGovern

The senator says environmental issues are one of her priorities. According to an aide, McGovern worked extensively on the solid waste disposal bill, which is now a law in Massachusetts. She also released a policy report called Environmental Challenge, a comprehensive report dealing with such things as acquisition of open space, harbor pollution and wetlands protection, the aide said.

The Environmental Lobby of Massachusetts named McGovern the 1987 "Legislator of the Year" for her efforts.

She's been involved in legislation to modernize the court system in Massachusetts. It will enable the judicial branch of government to deal more efficiently with its case load, McGovern said.

These broad-based policy initiatives affect her district, McGovern said.

But her involvement in those issues doesn't remove her from the local scene, she said. McGovern says she's very visible in the communities and she holds office hours in Andover once a month. "I try to be as responsive as I can to the town," she said.

While admitting that she must balance her time between her district responsibilities and her duties as chairwoman of the Ways and Means Committee, McGovern says it is possible. "I try to balance the needs of the state with the needs of the district...and I think most of the time it balances very well."

Gets Grant

Emmanuel College in Boston was recently awarded a $50,000 challenge grant from the Amelia Peabody Foundation, Boston, which will allow the college to equip a new state-of-the-art computer laboratory. It will be matched on a dollar-for-dollar basis by the college within the next 18 months.

In addition, Emmanuel College has also received a $15,000 grant from the Shawmut Charitable Foundation to ward the cost of renovating classrooms.

Emmanuel College, founded in 1919 as the first Catholic college for women in New England, has a strong tradition of educational excellence, offering quality liberal arts and career programs to women undergraduates and to women and men through adult learning and graduate programs.

Melahn

"When you get older you have a hard time fighting through all the complex forms of bureaucracy. I think it's very important to have someone (on senatorial staff)...who could specialize in this area."

Visiting local senior centers recently, Melahn said "The impression I get from (the elderly) is that they'd like some attention. They get all kinds of promises that all kinds of money will be thrown at them but what I think they'd like is just a little TLC...tender loving care from their state senator."

But even if Melahn falls short in the election, one of his major goals will still have been accomplished.

The current domination of Democrats in the state house "is very bad for the state," he said. "Good government comes from good competition. What we now have in Massachusetts is basically a one-party system."

They're On The Other Side Of The Teacher's Desk

First-Time Faculty Get Lessons Of Their Own

By Julie M. Barry

For the first time in their lives, John Harnois and Guy LoConte are going to school to teach, not to learn.

But they say making the move from college into the working world hasn't been a problem for the two new faculty members in the Andover school system.

Harnois, a music teacher, and LoConte, a guidance counselor, are both working in their chosen field for the first time.

Harnois, 23, received his bachelor's degree in music education and performance last May from Ithaca College. He teaches students in the elementary and middle schools how to play string instruments—violin, viola and cello.

"The biggest thing I learned from my college education is that I still have to learn," Harnois said. "And, I think my college education gave me the tools to learn."

The knowledge gained from actually teaching is much different than from college courses, Harnois said. "The experience of a job is nothing that you're taught."

"The fundamentals and teaching methods emphasized in college don't prepare a new teacher to deal with real life teaching situations. What they teach you is too idealistic," he said, because often a student doesn't follow the step-by-step process taught in college.

A summer internship working with emotionally disturbed children gave Harnois his first dose of the real world. He says he asked the students what songs they wanted to sing in choir...but received no answer.

"That experience gave me the insight, that I better think about what to do, if kids didn't go along with what I'd planned," Harnois said.

Individual student pacing and retention of knowledge and dealing with parents and school administrations are all issues that come up frequently in the world of teaching, but are difficult to teach at college, Harnois said.

Talking with professors and personal experience through internships helped Harnois create his own ideas on how to deal with unexpected situations, he said.

No matter what happens, Harnois said, "I know what the end result should be...I have to be confident that I can get to that end."

While admitting he was somewhat nervous in his first class, Harnois said, "I never felt like I couldn't do it."

LoConte, a newly hired guidance counselor at Andover High, received his bachelor's degree in history from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and his master's degree last June from Suffolk University in the counseling and human relations program. He is certified in school counseling.

LoConte has on-the-job experience. He was an intern at Lynnfield High School for one year during his graduate study program. While there are minor variances from school to school — like scheduling procedures, he said, the major counseling aspect is the same. And, he said, his adjustment at Andover High has been smooth.

His age, 25, is advantageous, LoConte said. "A lot of times, students can relate their problems easier to someone younger."

The majority of Andover High students go on to college. LoConte, fresh from college himself, can relate to students pursuing that option. "I'm not too far removed from the process they're going through," he said.

Still, there are many students who are not yet faced with post-high school decisions. Many of his students are freshmen. "It's good because we're both getting oriented to the school."

LoConte deals with students on a one-on-one basis, a situation he says he enjoys. "The kids are just themselves, and they're very honest," he said. "I'm amazed at the diversity of kids; it makes it fun for me."

So far, LoConte says his main efforts have been aimed at getting acquainted with the students (about 225) assigned to him.

To get to know the kids outside of class, he said he's planning on getting involved with the track team.

Twenty-five-year-old guidance counselor Guy LoConte, new at Andover High this year, says his age is a plus. 'A lot of times, students can relate their problems easier to someone younger.'

John Harnois, a May graduate of Ithaca College, teaches Jennifer Blongiewicz, left, and Greg Jelson, Sanborn Elementary students, the basics of the violin. 'The biggest thing I learned from my college education is that I still have to learn,' Harnois says.

Phillips To Host Open House

Phillips Academy will host its third annual Day Student Day, an open house for prospective day students and their families, on Sunday beginning at 2 p.m. in Kemper Auditorium. Local students and their families will act as co-hosts with the admission office, greeting the more than 200 guests expected.

Headmaster Donald McNemar will be joined by Dean of Admission Jeannie F. Disette in welcoming residents of the five communities surrounding the academy eligible to send students as day enrollees: Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and North Reading. This year there are 272 day students, 22 percent of the student body.

The program will continue with a panel of academy faculty, administrators and students speaking and answering questions on admission, financial aid, academics, special programs and exchanges, athletics, social and logistical issues.

Activities conclude with light food and soft drinks. Tours of the newly renovated and expanded Oliver Wendell Holmes Library will be available in the late afternoon. The program is co-sponsored by the PA admission office and the Merrimack Valley Andover/Abbot Association.

PA Seniors Named Semifinalists

Two seniors at Phillips Academy were named semifinalists in the 1989 National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students.

Kent A. Strong, son of Dr. and Mrs. Peter E. Strong of Detroit, Mich., and Michelle A. Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Young of Brooklyn, N.Y., will have the opportunity to continue in the competition for approximately 700 Achievement scholarships, worth about $3 million, to be awarded next spring for college undergraduate study. Achievement scholarships are financed by grants from 185 sponsor organizations and contributions from a large group of company and individual donors.

Strong is a varsity crew and swim team member. He is also a member of the debating team, the student constitution committee, the Afro-Latino American Society, vice president of the Political Economy Club and editor of its newsletter. He is also a tutor.

Young is president of the Afro-Latino American Society and a staff member of its publication, Palas, a member of the Los Amigos society, the Gospel choir, the political economy club, the OxFam committee and the South Africa committee. She is also a tutor.

Some 1,500 semifinalists were designated from among over 80,000 black students who requested consideration in the program when they took the PSAT/NMSQT in 1987.

Semifinalists must advance to the finalist level of the competition in order to receive further consideration. To become finalists, they must have consistently high academic records throughout secondary school, receive the endorsement and recommendation of their schools, confirm their qualifying performance on a second test and complete an application giving detailed information about their scholastic and extracurricular accomplishments, plans and goals.

The achievement scholars named in 1989 will bring the program's 25-year total to over 13,000 outstanding black students who will have won scholarships valued at $41 million.

The Raytheon people of Andover. Doing America proud.

All in all, there are 6,600 Raytheon employees at Andover. Building the most reliable air defense systems in the world.

So reliable, that this facility has been selected as a "Certified Contractor" by the U.S. Government. It's a unique distinction. It means the U.S. Army has reduced its on-site inspections at Andover.

Because we deliver on schedule.

And we exceed the Army's reliability standards.

The Army has even asked us to write up quality guidelines for other defense contractors.

Stringent quality control is fundamental at Raytheon.

Hiring the best people we can find is fundamental, too. We've found and hired thousands of them in New England.

Thank you, Andover.
You've done us proud.

AHS Hosts Band Competition

The Andover Golden Warriors Marching Band is co-hosting its third annual high school marching band competition with the Haverhill High School Marching Band on Sunday, starting at 1 p.m. at the Eugene V. Lovely Field at Andover High School.

Adhering to the rules and regulations of the New England Scholastic Band Association are 17 bands from southern New Hampshire and eastern Massachusetts competing in five divisions. Divisions I-IV are determined by the number of playing members in a unit. Andover, with its 38 playing members, is in Division II (34-39). The fifth division, the medals division, is scored for ratings, not ranking, which determines whether a bronze, silver or gold medal will be awarded for a band's performance. Any band of any size may compete in the medals division. Haverhill will compete in this division.

The other competing bands are: Lawrence (medals); Bishop Feehan, Watertown (I); Triton Regional, Methuen, Dedham, Portsmouth, N.H., Melrose

Question 4's electricity shutdown would be expensive – economically and environmentally

ECONOMIC COSTS

Question 4 would:

Cut off nearly 20 percent of our in-state power supply – forcing expensive power shortages.

Our state already faces the prospect of serious electricity shortages this winter.

Question 4's shutdown would cut off over 4 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity annually – nearly 20 percent of our in-state power supply – and make our electricity supply problems even worse.

Cost taxpayers and ratepayers billions of dollars.

If Question 4 passes, the State of Massachusetts would have to pay for the arbitrary shutdown of the power plants.

These huge costs would be paid by Massachusetts taxpayers.

A September 1988 Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation study concluded that: "Likely compensation to the plants' owners would be somewhere between $1.3 and $2.1 billion. The annual carrying costs... would put a $150 million to $250 million a year dent in state and local budgets for each of the next 20 years – a total fiscal impact of $4 billion."

In addition, electricity rates would rise to pay for the high costs of replacement power.

Cause thousands of Massachusetts workers to lose their jobs.

Question 4's shutdown would cause the more than 1,000 men and women who work at the plants to immediately lose their jobs.

The increased electric bills and taxes that would result from the shutdown would increase business costs and damage our state's economy – putting thousands of other Massachusetts jobs at risk.

ENVIRONMENTAL COSTS

Question 4 would:

Increase oil and coal burning: adding as much as 44 million pounds of sulfur dioxide and 7 billion pounds of carbon dioxide into the air every year.

If our state's nuclear electricity plants are closed, most of the replacement power would come from oil and coal plants.

By forcing this switch to oil and coal burning, Question 4 would add to already serious air and water pollution problems – including ozone pollution, acid rain, and the global warming Greenhouse Effect.

Increase Acid Rain.

Sulphur dioxide pollution is a major cause of acid rain – which is destroying our lakes and streams, and agricultural and forest resources.

Question 4 would lead to increased sulfur dioxide pollution, making our acid rain problems even worse.

Add to the Greenhouse Effect.

By forcing a switch to oil and coal, Question 4 would increase the carbon dioxide emissions that are creating the global warming Greenhouse Effect – a problem which could have worldwide environmental impacts.

As the Boston Globe stated in an August 15, 1988 editorial: "If (Massachusetts' nuclear electricity plants) were replaced by fossil-fuel plants the emission of gases that cause acid rain, as well as the warming of the atmosphere would be increased by 15 percent – at a time when every effort should be made to reduce such emissions."

Question 4 would permanently shut down the generation of electric power by Massachusetts' nuclear electricity plants.

Band

(III); Malden, Beverly (IV). Band programs are from seven to 11 minutes long. At the end of competition, a marching band exhibition will be given by the University of Lowell.

The Andover marching band, under the direction of Marc Keroack, band director for five years, assisted by Mark Sanchez, will perform "Strike Up the Band," a Streisand medley and "Capricorn Moon."

Other people involved with the Andover performance are Bob Mulvanity, drill designer; Brian Dollard, drill instructor; Joe McFarland, assistant drill instructor; Rich Rigolini, color guard instructor; Peter Furnari, percussion instructor; and Jim Butka, student teacher.

Sue Boush and Kim O'Neill are drum majors; Jo Li is color guard captain. Solos are by Ken Gable on alto sax, Chris Brouady on trumpet, Chuck Edgerly on baritone and O'Neill on trumpet.

The Andover band brought home the "gold" last year as the Division I champions. "This year's band may even be better than last year's Division I championship band. They have the potential," Keroack said. "Because we had an increase in size—now we're in Division II—we expect our competition to be more challenging than last year's. Our main objective, as in years past, is to develop our highest potential, no matter what the results."

Joe Leary, Haverhill's band director for nine years, has been preparing the Haverhill band to perform "Payload," "How do you keep the Music Playing?" "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "Since I Fell for You."

Andover High's marching band brought home a first-place medal in Sunday's Portsmouth/Dover Invitational. Marching for the first time this year in Division II, the band earned 74.6 points.

Amy Papaioanou and Rachel Swartz are drum majors. Kelly Baker, Jennifer Rodrigues and Melanie Sullivan are color guard captains. Solos are by Dan Griffin and James Lacefield on trumpet, Papaioanou on tenor sax, Lesley Richardson and Antigone Simmons on clarinet.

Leary says he feels good about the band "having a very successful trip to Disney World, Fla., last year. We're looking forward to a successful, rewarding year this year."

Arrangements for this competition, which benefits the Andover and Haverhill bands, are under the direction of the Andover and Haverhill High band associations. Tickets are available from and members or at the competition.

The high level of concentration needed by each band is put to the test during competitions. There are five judges to arrive at a score for each band. Two judges walk around the field among the performers, using tape recorders to comment on the execution of a band's performance in sections and as a unit.

At the end of each performance, a closing statement is made on tape, scores marked down on paper and the five judges pass in their scores, the sheets are collated and the tabulator estimates the score. Each band learns the results when the awards are presented. The taped critiques benefit a band's future performance.

Schools Enter Second Phase Of 3-Year Computer Plan

By Kenneth Kwajewski

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of biweekly articles written by the school system's computer education director, who will be describing the second phase of Andover's computer education plan.

The next seven articles will describe each of the program's goals in detail. This article will provide a brief overview of the goals that will be implemented this year.

After a successful first year of a three-year plan, the Andover public school system has entered phase two. The computer plan calls for the integration of educational technologies into the school curriculum. Last year many exciting programs began and are continuing this year. Many new projects will be initiated or expanded in phase two.

Last year at the first-grade level students were given instruction on keyboarding. Students were taught how to use the proper fingers to strike the appropriate keys on the computer keyboard. It is an important skill that will enable students to use educational software and begin the process of using computers for word processing.

This year the program has been expanded to the second-grade level. Teachers were trained this summer to use a keyboarding program from Southwestern Publishing, "Microtype—The Wonderful World of Paws." This program is more structured than the program used by first-grade students and hopefully will enable students to quickly learn how to use the computer keyboard.

The Logo programming curriculum developed for third-graders will now be expanded to include fourth-grade students. Curriculum guides and evaluation sheets were developed over the summer by fourth-grade teachers. Stephen Cohen from Lesley College taught over 25 fourth-grade teachers and administrators how to develop programs using the Logo language. Students will be given time throughout the year to develop their creative talents by solving problems with Logo.

The sixth-grade science and mathematics curriculum is being given an exciting shot of new technology with the introduction of "Voyage of the Mimi." This multi-media package combines text, software, hardware interfaces, film and videodisk materials so that students can learn science and math concepts. The program is about the travels of a science expedition that studies whales on the ship Mimi. All sixth-grade teachers were trained this summer to use the various media components so they can integrate the package into the science and math curriculum.

A modified math mastery program will be introduced this year at the elementary school level. A program from Houghton Mifflin Publishing Co. will be used with the math curriculum to record how well students are doing in math. The program provides data to teachers and administrators concerning the mastery, partial mastery or non-mastery of the schools' math objectives. Apple IIgs computers have

IF YOU'RE A BUSINESS IN SEARCH OF A BANK...

"What they had to offer . . . was an outstanding working relationship — more like a partnership."

"Until a year ago," says M. Frank Higgins, president of Sawtelle Brothers, Inc., "my experience with banks had been a series of dissatisfying relationships." The 40-year old company, which is a representative dealer for Jacobson mowers, Cushman industrial equipment and E-Z-GO golf equipment, had just completed moving into their new building at 65 Glenn Street in Lawrence, MA.

At that time, John O'Brien and Tom Cunningham invited Higgins to lunch to tell him about Arlington Trust Company. "I had been listening to the commercials on the radio about Arlington Trust, and since I had already made the decision to leave the bank I was with, I went to see what they had to offer."

What they had to offer, he says, was an outstanding working relationship — more like a partnership. John O'Brien worked with Higgins to explore various methods of financing for the company, and together they decided on Asset Based Lending.

"John has made it so comfortable — I have no reservations about talking with him about any ideas or problems. Arlington Trust understands our business. Their attitude is fantastic!"

Arlington Trust Company has been serving businesses for nearly 100 years. If you're a business in search of a bank, come to Arlington Trust.

Babysitting A Disabled Child

The Parents' Advisory Council for Children with Special Needs is sponsoring a three-week babysitting course for teenagers in grades seven and up. Sessions will meet on Mondays, Nov. 7, 14 and 21, from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Andover-North Andover YMCA on Haverhill Street.

The class will address questions like: How do you hold, lift and position a child who is physically disabled? How do you play with and entertain a disabled child? What do you do in a medical emergency? How do you feed a child who has difficulty eating? How do you assist a child who is hyperactive?

These questions and others will be answered by a team of specialists, including a registered physical therapist, registered occupational therapist, a nurse and a special education teacher. Participants will be able to meet some children and their parents. Course organizers say families with disabled children face a shortage of trained babysitters.

been purchased for each school in the system so that data can be more easily evaluated. Systemwide results can also be obtained from this software program.

Our eighth-grade applications course has added new textbooks so that students can receive better instruction for word processing, spreadsheet and data base activities. Each student will be using a hands-on guide textbook that will provide activities about the practical applications of these software tools.

The high school business education program is expanding its use of computer technology. Students are using the Apple lab to learn typing and are using the IBM business computers to integrate modern accounting procedures into the accounting curriculum. Four teachers were trained this summer to use a business accounting program from Southwestern Publishing. Students will be able to learn modern accounting procedures as well as traditional bookkeeping procedures.

A new five-computer work station CAD/CAM lab has been provided for the industrial arts department. Industrial arts teacher Fred Baker was trained this summer to use the new equipment. Students will be able to learn drafting procedures not only with a T square and triangle but now will be able to use a mouse, digitizer, plotter and printer to create, edit and output educational designs.

A new Macintosh lab at the high school will be used for word processing, graphic design and desktop publishing. A laser printer and scanner will be used to create newsletters for the English department. Students and teachers will also be trained to use the desktop publishing program Pagemaker to create educational materials. A Macintosh computer is also being used by the music department to create, edit and output students' music compositions.

This year there are four major curriculum areas under revision: mathematics, social studies, foreign language and language arts. Curriculum committees will be reviewing how best to integrate educational technologies into their respective programs. Educational software will be previewed and purchased as needed for each area. It is a major goal this year to coordinate our use of word processing programs in grades one through eight.

The list of new goals indicates that this will be another exciting year for students and teachers. Already, in-service courses have begun to help teachers prepare to use these new technologies.

Women & Pre-Nuptial Agreements

If you are contemplating marriage or remarriage, you may be concerned that you will risk the eventual loss of some or all of your property or other assets in the event of a dissolution of your marriage by death or divorce. You may also be uneasy about raising these concerns with your prospective husband because you do not wish to seem unromantic or greedy. A properly negotiated and drafted pre-nuptial agreement can often address these very genuine concerns. The assistance of a lawyer in the negotiation and drafting process is essential if you wish your agreement to be valid and enforceable at some later time.

Western Roundup

By Joanna Moynihan

West Middle School started its first year successfully. The sixth- and seventh-graders have seemed to adjust well to the new changes, while the eighth-graders are ready to make their last year at West the best. Even though some of last year's activities won't take place this year, the student government is working to bring many new events to the school, for example, 100-day celebration, Spirit Week and secret Santa.

West students have elected new officers for the new school year. Jennifer Batts, an eighth-grader, is president. She served as a student council member last year and was involved with school activities.

Vice presidents elected for each grade level were Rejji Hayes, grade eight; Amy Cohen, grade seven; and Glen Sinowski, grade six.

Julie Gediman was elected treasurer. Joanna Moynihan was elected secretary and is looking forward to working with the student government.

Representatives are elected by their homeroom and will join the student officers once a month at the weekly meeting.

The elections concluded with a swearing-in ceremony of the officers and representatives. Each member promised to do their best.

West Intramurals are in their second week. Each team is made from homerooms that compete against one other. All three grades have started by playing boxball and the sixth and seventh grades will soon be playing floor hockey while the eighth grade plays volleyball.

At West's open house Tuesday, parents had an opportunity to follow their children's schedule with 15-minute classes. Refreshments were served.

Pike Students Go To Camp

The entire ninth grade at the Pike School in Andover is at Camp Chewonki in Wiscasset, Maine.

Similar to an Outward Bound experience, the Chewonki program is based on the concept that when we challenge ourselves, we are able to do more than we think. Students are challenged individually and as a group. They come to learn their limits and potential. Groups of ninth-graders spend a week in an encampment with a Chewonki staff member and a teacher from Pike. They live in tents and are responsible for securing wood, building fire, cooking meals and cleaning up.

Activities include a trust fall, donning safety harnesses and walking across rafters 15 feet above ground level and helping each other to cross a gulch while on ropes stretched high above a stream. This week enables ninth-graders to test themselves mentally and physically, to realize better the depth of their potential and to bond together as a class.

During the first week of this month, Pike fifth-graders were at Sargent Camp Environmental Center in Peterborough, N.H. The students and some of their teachers explored the environment and natural history of a part of New England. Living in cabins, they pursued an educational program which built on what they have learned in their science and geography classes at Pike. Activities included forest walks during the day and at night, orienteering, canoeing and studying wetlands. Students kept journals in which they recorded their scientific observations and after returning to school wrote about and reported on their individual and group experiences.

Exhibit On Andover Women

In recognition of the important role women play in the political process as voters and candidates, the Andover Historical Society will mount a special exhibition entitled "Their Voice Was Heard: Andover Women in Public Life." The show will open Tuesday, Oct. 25, with a reception for members and friends from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. and remain on view through Friday, April 21. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited. There is no charge for the reception.

In the early 19th century, as the new republic prospered, Americans began to concern themselves to a greater extent than ever before with the education of young girls. The 1829 founding of Abbot Female Seminary, later named Abbot Academy, is a case in point. Although contemporary sermons, novels and advice manuals clearly indicated that a woman's place was considered to be in the home, many women made their voice heard beyond their domestic domain by joining organizations formed to promote charity, temperance, anti-slavery, peace and, eventually, women's suffrage. The 19th Amendment and the world wars provided new opportunities in the 20th century for women to make their mark outside the home.

The society's exhibition will focus on the 1850-1950 period and will discuss and illustrate, through costumes, banners, badges, photographs and certificates, the role of Andover women in local political, social service and military organizations. There will also be an epilogue chronicling further advances in the public role of Andover women since the middle of this century.

The exhibition has been mounted through the efforts of committee members Robin Sung, chairman, Norma Gammon, Barbara Alden, Dot Tavern, Bea Collins, Karen Herman, Barbara Brown, Vi Curtin and Mary Streeter.

The Andover Historical Society, accredited by the American Association of Museums, operates an office and library, open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and second Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Lecture

Sherman Teichman, professor of middle east history and director of foreign policy at Tufts University, will speak on the problems and unrest in that region at a breakfast lecture Sunday, Oct. 23, at the Jewish Community Center, Lawrence.

Seminar On Bluebirds At PA

The eastern bluebird is not something you see every day. But the Phillips Academy Ornithological Society wants to change that. The brand new group is hosting a seminar next week on what people can do to make Andover a more attractive home for bluebirds.

In Andover's rural days, it was easy for the bluebird to find nesting sites, according to Marc D. Koolen, faculty head of PAOS and biology instructor at the academy. "As Andover began to grow and development began to claim these open spaces, the pressures on the bluebird increased dramatically," Koolen said. "The last official record of nesting bluebirds in Andover is now approximately 15 years old. Even sighting a migratory bluebird within our borders is extremely rare."

These statistics aren't unique to Andover, according to Koolen, who said the bluebird has suffered across the country as a result of development and competition from the European starling and English sparrow, also known as the house sparrow. He said recent estimates place bluebird populations down approximately 90 percent nationwide.

PAOS is organizing a townwide effort to construct a "bluebird trail" in Andover. Koolen said a bluebird trail is a series of specifically designed nest boxes placed in the bluebird's proper habitat and monitored periodically to gather data. Prompted by the North American Bluebird Society, communities across the continent have begun to construct the trails, he added.

To spearhead its Andover project, PAOS has arranged for naturalist Lilian Files to host a seminar on bluebird ecology on Thursday, Oct. 27, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the Cooley House on the PA campus. Files, affectionately known as the "Bluebird Lady," is the former president of the North American Bluebird Society. Her presentation will include a description of the natural history of bluebirds, the concept and construction of bluebird trails and demonstrations of various nest box designs. She will conclude her talk with a question-and-answer session with the audience.

PAOS is looking for help with every as-

O'Neal Honored For Volunteer Efforts By National Group

Ian O'Neal of Andover was honored recently in Washington, D.C., as one of 50 state winners of the "achievement in volunteerism" award.

This award recognizes outstanding individual service to the National FFA Organization's Building Our American Communities program.

BOAC is a nationwide rural revitalization program whose goal is to foster leadership skills in young adults by encouraging them to plan and implement a variety of community development projects. BOAC is a special program of the National FFA Organization and is sponsored by a grant from the RJR Nabisco Foundation.

In honor of their exemplary work with the BOAC program, the 50 students and their chapter advisors were invited to participate in the FFA's National Conference on Community Development Oct. 1-5.

The conference is a series of workshops and meetings with congressional and administrative officials. This year's conference addressed several critical agricultural issues under the theme "Leadership for Changing Communities—A Framework for Learning."

The highlight of the conference was the annual BOAC awards luncheon on Capitol Hill to honor O'Neal and the other "achievement in volunteerism" participants. The students were praised for their community spirit and personal initiative by Sen. Patrick Leahy, chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry; the Honorable E. "Kika" de la Garza, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee; and Alan Caldwell, director of federal government relations for RJR Nabisco Inc., which sponsors the program.

Other officials at the luncheon were congressmen from the winners' districts and members of the House and Senate agriculture and education committees.

Prior to coming to Washington, the winners from each state received a $200 check from RJR Nabisco Inc.

For 17 years, FFA chapters across the United States have identified community needs and developed BOAC projects to meet them. The Conference on Community Development recognizes those students who have made significant contributions to this volunteer effort.

FFA is the national organization of high school students preparing for careers in agricultural production, processing, supply and service, mechanics, horticulture, forestry, natural resources and other agribusiness professions.

Its members volunteer an estimated $9.5 million in labor to BOAC projects annually. Since the program began in 1971, FFA chapters have conducted more than 22,000 BOAC projects in all 50 states and Puerto Rico. Currently, more than 1,600 FFA chapters nationwide participate in the program.

Haunted House Observes Tenth Anniversary

It's that time of year when one of the local school buildings transforms into the Haunted House. This year marks the tenth anniversary of this special event used by many parents as an alternative to trick or treating or to compliment the festivities. The Haunted House, held in recent years at the Doherty Middle School (Memorial Auditorium), has also occupied Shawsheen School and the former Stowe School. "Each building has offered its own special personality. The school corridors serve as natural pathways which often help to confuse the unknowing participant. Stowe's attic, Shawsheen's basement corridor and Doherty's winding ramp system have been used to create that supernatural effect," says Mary Donohue, program coordinator of the Department of Community Services. Members of the Andover Theatre Company and Merrimack Junior Theatre will be in some of the best costumes and fright scenes the house has to offer. The Haunted House has benefitted from both theatre organizations as well as community volunteers. Anyone interested in assisting with setup or in helping to haunt should contact the DCS in Town Hall. Donations for trick-or-treat prizes given to children at the exit of the Haunted House have been received from many local businesses. Contact the DCS to donate a gift certificate, individually wrapped candy or small toys. The Haunted House is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 29, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The doors to Memorial Auditorium, across from the Park bandstand, will serve as entrance and exit to the house.

Learning About Plastic

By Virginia Cole

Now that we are branching out from the simple, paper, glass, (green, brown and clear), to the modern world of plastic, perhaps we must learn the lingo. I've never been one to master the alphabetic short names of missiles or types of computers, but I shall try with plastic.

The kind of plastic that can now be recycled is called HDPE (High Density Polyethylene). More than 2.2 billion pounds of HDPE household bottles were sold in 1987, almost 10 pounds for every person in the United States (courtesy of the Christian Science Monitor). This plastic has many uses when recycled. Finding markets for recyclables has always been a big stumbling block in increasing the tonnage recycled. At last a market for HDPE plastic has been found. Lumber and things made from lumber seem the most exciting. Andover Recycling has heard a speaker explain this and actually handled pieces of the product. It can be sawed, nailed, screwed, fashioned into different shapes and sizes and, of course, it never rots. That's why we want it out of the landfill. It is permanent.

Our milk comes in HDPE plastic, particularly gallons and half gallons, orange juice sometimes and all cider. Detergents, motor oil, yogurt, margarine, shampoo, peanut butter and some liquor are in this plastic. All these containers must be drained before being recycled, but it is not necessary to wash them. We will collect them at the glass bin once a month at the Town Office parking lot. Please start saving. You can crush them so the bulk is not so great. As usual, the reasons are to reduce the amount sent to the incinerator and save the $63 per ton it costs. But we are also finding a new, useful substitute for wood that will last far longer. Other parts of the country, cities near Chicago for instance, have found this interest in getting rid of plastic from the waste stream has pushed up the glass recycling too. Remember, glass is the hardest to get rid of for the incinerator and when the incinerator breaks down, we are back to landfills and pollution. Next glass and plastic day is Nov. 19.

The landfill at Greenwood and Chandler roads is open every Saturday for leaves. The entrance is on Ledge Road, behind the fire station. Drive to West Andover, if you live in the eastern part of town. You'll be surprised at how many new neighbors you have.

Child Care Program Offered

The Andover-North Andover YMCA is offering a school-age child care program at Faith Lutheran Church, South Main Street, Andover, Monday through Friday from the time Andover elementary schools get out until 6 p.m.

The program provides recreational and educational activities that stimulate growth and provide the security and safety of a homelike setting.

The children currently enrolled in the program have been keeping busy with arts and crafts activities such as sea shell creatures, black magic paintings, marshmallow creations, animal mobiles and fuse-it bead key chains. Activities for the more adventurous have included nature walks, building of forts and leaf-pile jumping. Cooking projects are done at least twice a week.

Staff and children are busy planning the annual Halloween party with games and costumes.

Parents interested in enrolling their children may contact Stacy Leighton at the Faith Lutheran site or Cathy Dawson, YMCA youth program director.

'Sweet Charity' At Collins Center

Ann Marie Connors

The national touring production of "Sweet Charity," starring Ann Marie Connors, brings one of the showiest song and dance extravaganzas in Broadway history to the stage of the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts, Shawsheen Road, Andover, on Saturday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m.

Neil Simon's internationally acclaimed musical comedy sensation won four 1986 Tony Awards, including "best revival." The show is the 1960's song and dance saga of Charity Hope Valentine, a dance hall hostess of unquenchable optimism and a heart as big as all outdoors.

Connors has starred in many musicals, including "Sugar Babies," "Gypsy" and "Cabaret." She was chosen to appear in "A Chorus Line's" special 5,000th performance on Broadway last year. She has appeared on television in "Another World" and has served as spokesmodel for Toshiba, 7-UP, Spaulding Tennis and TWA.

The celebrated score includes such memorable standouts as "If my Friends could see me Now," "Hey, Big Spender," "I'm a Brass Band," "There's got to be Something Better than This" and "The Rhythm of Life."

Originally conceived by award-winning director, choreographer Bob Fosse, "Sweet Charity" ran for two years on Broadway and has been described by critics as "racy and tender - a razzle dazzle musical crammed with fun."

Tickets are on sale at the Collins Center box office from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and at all Ticketron location.

Group discounts are available.

Dorothy M. Gilbreath

Dorothy M. (Mattheson) Gilbreath, formerly of 236 North Main St., a widely known musician, died Oct. 16, 1988, at Lawrence General Hospital. She was 78.

Mrs. Gilbreath suffered from a chronic bronchial problems for the past 15 years and was admitted to the hospital Aug. 30 when she got pneumonia.

"She was a very lovable person," said Barbara Woodworth, a longtime friend who sang in the choir at Andover Baptist Church when Mrs. Gilbreath was organist and choir director during the 1960s. "She was easygoing and we had a lot of good times together."

Marion Wilson of Andover, who took part in several minstrel shows with Mrs. Gilbreath, said her friend was known as the best accompanist around. "We had a lot of fun doing those shows when she was organist at Park Street Methodist Church."

Mrs. Gilbreath teamed up with director Charlie Jacobs and played the music for numerous minstrel shows in the Greater Lawrence area in the late '40s and throughout the '50s. Mrs. Wilson said her musical friend was sought out as an accompanist because she could play anything, often without music.

Born in Lawrence, Mrs. Gilbreath worked at the Pacific Mills there and the Shawsheen Mills in Andover many years ago. Before she retired in 1980, she was organist and choir director at various times at Ballard Vale United Church as well as Andover Baptist Church and Parker Street Methodist Church.

Mrs. Gilbreath was a graduate of the Essex Agricultural School in Danvers, and she took piano lessons from Hazel Alexander of Lawrence. She was a member of Ballard Vale United Church, the Woman's Club of that church and the True Blue Club.

Her sister-in-law, Ruth Mattheson of Andover, said Mrs. Gilbreath had a wonderful sense of humor and did a great deal of beautiful handiwork and knitting.

She was the widow of Ralph I. Gilbreath, who died several years ago.

"She really leaned on her husband and the heart went out of her when he died," Mrs. Woodworth said.

Members of her family include her brothers, Raymond Mattheson of Colorado Springs, Colo., Russel Mattheson of Lawrence and Wendell Mattheson of Andover; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be Friday at 10:30 a.m. in Ballard Vale United Church. Burial will be in Bellevue Cemetery, Lawrence.

Selectmen Interview Zoning Board Candidates

By Frank Messina

It had taken several weeks to assemble enough candidates for three Zoning Board of Appeals seats, but once together for public interviews, the Board of Selectmen were impressed.

"You should see these applications, their qualifications are unbelievable," Selectman Charles Wesson told the audience, "this will be a tough decision."

The six people interviewed Monday night included four attorneys, one architect and an industrial manager.

Although three seats are open, selectmen expect to fill at least two of them with incumbent ZBA members. All three have indicated their desire to remain.

One of them is ZBA Chairman Wesley Whitney, who supported the re-appointment of Paul Bevacqua and Wallace Bolton in a recent letter to the selectmen. Whitney is expected to be asked to stay as chairman.

Monday night, out of some 15 citizens submitting applications, six came before the board and were asked several questions, including their understanding of basic ZBA responsibilities.

"I see the ZBA as a forum to resolve competing interests," said Paul Broude, an attorney living at 26 Orchard Crossing. "What it takes is a dose of common sense."

Wakefield lawyer Daniel Casper, 232 Andover St., feels the ZBA's job is to "interpret and implement town zoning bylaws" and "stay away from creating laws."

Former Methuen ZBA chairman and local attorney Samuel J. Concemi, 101 Central St., said the ZBA shouldn't implement zoning bylaws, but should "provide relief for citizens from the statutes of the town."

Philip Kochman, 9 Pinecrest Road, who works in industrial management, said he would "provide a certain amount of fairness for people seeking release" from town zoning bylaws.

A local architect, David Brown of 11 Glenwood Road, said his job experience would help the ZBA. "I think it would be useful to have someone trained in reading architectural plans who can evaluate them properly from a design point of view and analyze design alternatives."

TK, an Andover attorney, said his legal abilities would serve the ZBA well. "A lawyer is trained to handle matters of law and as a lawyer I've been trained to interpret law."

Wesson drew a chuckle from the audience when he told the candidates "If I was starting up a law firm, I think I'd offer all you guys a position."

The selectmen will make a final decision at their Nov. 7 meeting.

State DPU To Decide Whether To Revoke Merrimac's License

State Department of Public Utilities officials expect to decide by next week whether to pull the operating license of a local commuter bus company for allegedly not repairing a bus that was later involved in a traffic accident.

A Merrimac Transportation Co. lawyer defended the firm in a DPU hearing last week, calling company employees to testify that Grayline bus 7601 was in good running order when the Sept. 20 accident occurred.

A DPU inspection five days earlier had detected several mechanical problems, including faulty brake lines and the company was ordered to pull the bus off the road until repairs were made.

At the Oct. 12 hearing, Judy DuPeil, a DPU inspection supervisor, presented the state's case, which stood behind testimony from the busdriver, Scotti Brancanier of Amesbury, who testified that the brakes failed while driving in slow, bumper-to-bumper traffic on Route 93 near Woburn.

The bus rear-ended a small pickup, causing the two male occupants of the truck to hit their heads on the rear win-

Board Postpones Fee Hike

The Board of Selectmen Monday night postponed a proposed fee hike for use of town facilities until their next meeting.

The increases, which average about 20 percent, will mostly affect town clubs and organizations that rent school gymnasiums and cafeterias for local functions.

The selectmen were prepared to vote at the Monday night meeting but decided to delay their decision when a representative from the Andover League of Women Voters demanded an opportunity for public input.

Although Selectman Charles Wesson noted the proposed increases are minimal, he supported continuing the matter to the board's Nov. 7 meeting. The board agreed, approving the continuance, 5-0.

The fees and proposed increases are broken down with current fee first, proposed increase after slash.

Non-profit groups whose event is not intended to raise money are charged: for the Andover High School gym, $50/$60; the AHS cafeteria, $40/$60. The middle school gym and cafeteria goes for $25/$40, the auditorium $50/$60. Elementary school gyms and cafeterias run $25/$30 with the auditorium costing $40/$50. Other facilities cost $15/$20.

Non-profit groups raising money are charged: for the Andover High gym, $100/$100, the AHS cafeteria, $75/$100. Middle school gym and cafeteria cost $75/$80, the auditorium $100/$100. Elementary school gyms and cafeterias run $50/$60 with the auditorium costing $75/$80. Other facilities cost $25/$30.

Business groups raising money are charged: for the Andover High gym, $200/$200, the cafeteria, $150/$200. Middle school gyms runs $200/$200 and cafeterias $150/$200; auditoriums $150/$200. Fees for elementary school gyms and cafeterias are $150/$175; auditoriums $150/$175. Other facilities cost $75/$100.

Business groups conducting non-fund-raising functions are charged the same rate as non-profit groups holding fund-raisers.

Scouting group fees will hold the line at $2 per use while youth league charges will go from $2 to $2.50 per use. Other youth groups will be raised from $7.50 to $10 per use.

All non-resident fees will double.

Town Sets Trick-and-Treating Hours

The Board of Selectmen have officially designated trick-or-treat hours on Halloween between 5 and 7:30 p.m.

For safety reasons, parents are asked not to let their children stay out after 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 31.

Mary E. Harrington, left, treasurer of the Merrimack Valley United Fund, presents a check for the final payment of a $50,000 grant to Veryl D. Anderson, R.N., center, and Cynthia B. Stocking, R.N., co-directors of the Professional Center for Handicapped Children on Osgood Street. The United Fund gave the center the grant to help pay its moving expenses to the former Knights of Columbus building.

dent initiated fund-raising projects are acceptable with the approval of the school principal and the superintendent. But Seifert says activities are also initiated by parents and organizations. And he says a more definitive policy should be in place.

Several parents attended the School Committee meeting to express concern about how a student's absence, due to religious holidays—like Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur are handled.

Audience members suggested that the School Committee, administration and teachers be more sensitive to the specific dates of religious holidays when planning their schedules.

Student absences of this sort are excluded under the attendance policy. According to Robb, "we expect the schools to make reasonable accommodations for those students (absent for religious reasons)."

If possible, not planning field trips or exams and giving advance homework assignments are considered reasonable accommodations, Robb said.

Seifert said the administration recognizes the diversity in Andover and tries to keep in mind the dates of holidays to avoid problems. He says he assumes that problems this year were isolated incidents and that individuals with specific incidents should contact the administration.

If the problem becomes widespread, Seifert said the administration and School Committee would have to consider altering the calendar.

Dog Show

More than 2,000 dogs will compete at New England's largest all-breed dog shows and obedience trials, the Bay Colony Cluster, Nov. 17-20, at the bayside Exposition Center in Boston.

The shows feature educational exhibits on canine health, rescue groups, sled dog racing, animal rights legislation and special agility demonstrations.

Each dog is judged by the standard set for its breed; winners compete in their group; winners of group judging compete for best in show.

OPINION

THE TOWNSMAN, OCTOBER 20, 1988

Another Whack

In keeping with traditional Andover practice, Andover selectmen this week decided to increase fees for use of public buildings.

The only reason the new fees were not imposed is that a member of the League of Women Voters requested a delay to see if there might be some public input on the matter.

Thus, the matter has been tabled until Nov. 7.

The only thing certain at this point is that the proposed new rental rates will be delayed a little longer.

It is a pretty common practice for Andover's administration to impose user fees wherever and whenever possible and also to increase them from time to time.

The state has followed this practice as well. But, at the state level, administrators and legislators pride themselves on balancing the budget, but then finding new ways to tax people on such things as increasing motor vehicle fines, license fees, small claims court costs, etc. No tax increase, just a back door approach to new funding.

In Andover, however, in case it hasn't been noticed, the fees are imposed and the taxes increased with no appreciable improvement in municipal services.

Selectmen indicate that the new fees are minimal, which may be true.

But any increase results in additional costs to those who use Andover's municipal facilities.

It matters not what group is going to use either the gymnasiums or the cafeterias for meetings, somebody has to pay the bill and the organization is going to pass that cost along in either dues or admission fees.

Public buildings are just that. They were built through taxpayer expense and while it may be right to have some costs passed on to users, the fees should be purely minimal and the buildings enjoyed by those who funded them in the first place.

Andover residents are just simply overburdened with user fees and a tax structure which constantly rises.

There will be no relief forthcoming through the delay in acting on the proposed new fees. Some people may appear at the next selectmen's meeting to question the proposal. Maybe even the League of Women Voters, who requested the tabling of the action, may have some input on the matter.

But, assuredly, the selectmen will go along with the increases, unless they make a serious turn in their traditional thinking.

There is, of course, a little solace in the ultimate decision.

The proposed increases were thought about some time around June. Then the selectmen took the summer off, thus taking no action, which may have saved some groups a few dollars along the way.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — October 1888

The registrars admitted six voters on Wednesday evening. Two more opportunities to register.

The question of a street railway between Lawrence and Andover is being agitated, prominent men in both places having it under consideration.

Messrs. B. Frank Smith and Geo. F. Holt returned home from a week in the Adirondack region on Friday last. A car load of cattle and another of potatoes were brought from that country, but the most interesting invoice was a fine deer weighing 200 lbs.

The Boston and Maine winter time-table takes effect next Sunday, Oct. 21.

Barnard is putting on the final and festive coat — as bright and varied as the autumn leaves — upon Mr. Gile's house on Bartlet St.

The Elm St. boys, not to be outdone in patriotic enthusiasm by their elders, or their equals in other parts of town, had their flag raising on Monday evening.

Mr. John Collins moved into the new tenement, Tuesday.

Mr. Wm. H. Noyes, a graduate of Andover Seminary last year, and son of Rev. J.T. Noyes, a veteran missionary from Essex County in India, applied last week to the Berkely Temple church in Boston for ordination as a foreign missionary, and the church voted favorably.

75 Years Ago — October 1913

Miss M.E. Morrill has been appointed a district deputy grand master of the Rebekahs, and is to have supervision of the Methuen lodge of the order.

The house, barn and land at 130 Main street will be sold tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock by Auctioneer Rogers.

The recent rains have necessitated considerable extra work in cleaning out the catch-basins in various parts of the town.

The pupils of Punchard High School will hold their annual Halloween masquerade party in the school hall on Friday evening, Oct. 31.

The annual census work carried on by the Superintendent of Schools, in securing the names of all children in the town between the ages of five and fifteen, has been commenced.

Clan Johnston is planning for an apron and necktie party which will take place on Nov. 7. The affair will be in the nature of a ladies' night, and the committee in charge promise a very enjoyable evening.

Hon. and Mrs. John N. Cole and daughter, Dorothy, spent the weekend visiting in Pittsfield.

50 Years Ago — October 1938

For the first time in several years the school department fuel oil contract was awarded Tuesday night to an out-of-town concern, John L. Pickering Company of Lawrence.

Five children have been admitted to the first grade in the local public schools who are below the former entrance age which was six years by the first of January after admission. Under a new plan students who are six by the following March 1st may take a test which this year was given by a representative from the State Department of Education.

Good Neighbor

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Andover's Post 8 American Legion baseball wishes to express its gratitude to Phillips Academy for its generous and enthusiastic support of its baseball program.

PA provided the team with the use of its excellent, well-maintained varsity diamond for all its home games and for its numerous practice sessions. In addition, PA also allowed the legion team the use of its batting cage, foul-line markers, baseline marking machine as well as a convenient, field-located equipment storage area.

Special thanks are extended to Paul Kalkstein, PA's athletic director, for his unrelenting, enthusiastic support and encouragement. Also, the legion wishes to express its appreciation to Chuck Lane and his ground maintenance crew for maintaining the field in first-class condition throughout the season.

Post 8 American Legion team members and the Town of Andover are indeed fortunate to receive such outstanding support from Phillips for many Andover town-sponsored programs.

Bad For Who?

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The battle over Question #2 on the November ballot has degenerated into name-calling and propaganda.

This issue should be discussed in terms of municipal efficiency and fiscal responsibility at both the town and state levels of government. There is no reason that public works projects should be bid based on artificial wage rates set by the state rather than by contractors and private industry.

We must spend our tax dollars to fund public projects which are contracted to the lowest qualified bidder available. Under the current system this is not possible because of the negotiated rate of pay called the "prevailing wage."

Question #2 is not bad for you, just for a few.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Dorothy M. Winn

The Andover Elks Lodge will begin a new holiday tradition this year when they sponsor two Thanksgiving dinners for Andover senior citizens. These dinners will replace the Christmas parties they have sponsored for many years. Any Andover resident aged 60 or older is eligible to attend one of these dinners which will include roast turkey and all the trimmings and entertainment by the Confetti Kids. The dinners will be served Sunday, Nov. 13 and 20, at 12 noon.

Tickets will be available on a space-available basis beginning Monday, Oct. 31, at 10 a.m. and will be limited to one per person or one pair per couple. Proof of age and residency will be required.

Fuel assistance for low income residents is available to Andover residents through the State Fuel Assistance Program. Fuel assistance levels for 1988 have been reduced and state officials advise residents to conserve fuel to allow their fuel assistance monies to keep them warm during the heating season. Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipients who received fuel assistance last year will be mailed applications which must be returned before Nov. 1. The Greater Lawrence Community Action Council handles all applications and inquiries. For applications or information, call 686-3915.

Council on Aging day trips include the Nov. 3 trip to Plymouth, Mass., which includes admission to the Mayflower, a visit to Plymouth Rock, admission and tour of Plimouth Plantation and a turkey dinner for $24. A trip to the matinee performance of the Boston Ballet's "Nutcracker" at the Wang Center is scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 29. The cost of $18 includes orchestra seats. Space is limited.

The Council on Aging will sponsor its annual candidates coffee on Thursday, Oct. 27, at 1 p.m. at the senior center. More than 20,000 Americans die every year due to home accidents. Approximately three million more are disabled. These figures are alarming, but what is more alarming is that thousands of these deaths and injuries should never happen. Most home accidents are easily prevented. The Council on Aging has a free home safety checklist available. Pick one up today at the senior center.

Varsity Soccer Teams Dominate

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' and girls' soccer teams continued their domination of the Merrimack Valley Conference, and just about anyone else who dares to challenge them, as both enjoyed highly successful weeks.

The boys, defending champs and winners of six MVC titles in the last seven years, moved to the familiar confines of first place in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference following a huge 5-0 victory over previously-undefeated Chelmsford and a 9-2 romp over Lawrence High.

The girls, undefeated defending state Division 1 co-champs, secured their second straight MVC crown with a 10-0 romp over Dracut and weathered serious challenges from Eastern Massachusetts powerhouses Foxboro and North Andover.

The Andover girls, 12-0-1 this fall, 20-0-3 in their last 23 starts over a two-year period, and 10-0-0 in the MVC, have a five-point edge over second place Chelmsford with just two league games remaining.

In the big non-leaguers last week, Andover battled undefeated 1987 state Division 2 champ Foxboro to a 0-0 tie and then handed North Andover a 2-0 setback for the Scarlet Knights' second loss of the season.

The Andover High volleyball team moved within three victories of a first-ever tournament berth, improving to 8-4 with wins over Lowell (2-0) and Methuen (2-1).

The boys' and girls' cross country squads were not as successful, dropping both ends of a tri-meet against Billerica and Methuen.

In field hockey last week, Andover tied Methuen, dropped a 2-1 non-league decision to North Andover and lost to undefeated league leader Wilmington.

Boys' Soccer

The Andover boys' soccer team, after looking up at Chelmsford most of the year, passed the Lions in the standings with a crucial 5-0 victory over that club.

A Chelmsford victory would have just about eliminated the Golden Warriors from title consideration, but AHS always seems to win the big games and this arclight contest at Chelmsford High was no exception.

That victory, coupled with a key 2-2 tie between Chelmsford and third place Billerica last weekend, pushed coach Dave Amundsen's crew one point ahead of the Lions and two up on Billerica entering this week's play.

Andover stood 9-2-1 in the league for 19 points, 10-2-1 overall, while Chelmsford checked in at 7-1-4 for 18 points and Billerica 7-2-3 for 17 points.

All three teams have three games remaining, and barring any major upsets the championship could once again be determined on the final day of the regular season (Oct. 26) as it was last year.

Andover played Lowell (5-7-0) yesterday, travels to Central Catholic tomorrow, and wraps up by hosting Billerica next Wednesday night at Lovely Field (7 p.m.).

Chelmsford closes with Lawrence, Lowell and Central, while Billerica has Central, Lawrence and Andover.

Last fall Andover trailed Billerica by one point entering the final regular-season game between the two, and the Warriors beat the Indians 3-1 on their own field to clinch the crown.

"It will probably come down to that final day," agreed Amundsen, "although both Lowell and Central play us tough so we can't take anything for granted."

Andover and Chelmsford had struggled to a 0-0 tie in the season opener for both two months earlier, and the rematch was a 1-0 nailbiter until the Golden Warriors erupted to score four goals within a 12-minute stretch early in the second half.

Five different players found the range for goals, Scott Clementi pocketing the game-winner prior to the rapid-fire insurance scores from Brad Cronin, Capt. Peter Kannam (unassisted), senior midfielder Mark Angelos and senior halfback Matt Pothier.

Pothier, who shares the team scoring lead with Clementi despite missing several games with foot, hand and back injuries, passed out two assists and Chris Merrill one.

Eric Hammond and junior Mike Sintros combined for the shutout, making six saves, and overall the Warriors outgunned Chelmsford 17-6.

"This game went much the same as the 0-0 tie, as far as territorial advantage, but this time we made our chances count," said Amundsen. "We had excellent intensity and really smothered Chelmsford on defense."

The veteran AHS coach lauded the defensive play of Dave Manning, junior Chuck Jessico, junior Kevin Murphy, James Spinelli and Eric Jones.

The 9-2 romp over Lawrence wasn't quite as easy as the score indicates, the Lancers leading 2-1 just 10 minutes into the contest.

Andover bounced back for a 4-2 advantage by halftime, then put it away with five goals in the final 40 minutes.

"Lawrence is a much better team than the one we played earlier this year," said Amundsen. "They took advantage of several defensive lapses to score their goals, which came on two virtual breakaways."

Eric Hammond, who started the game despite stomach problems, gave way to Mike Sintros at the 20-minute mark of the first half. Sintros blanked Lawrence over the final 60 minutes, making two saves.

Junior midfielder John Mattola and Scott Clementi paced the attack with two goals apiece, Clementi notching his 12th and 13th of the season.

Peter Kannam and Matt McVicar contributed one goal and one assist each, while other marksmen were senior forward Bob Hughes, Chris Merrill and Mark Angelos.

Matt Pothier produced his second five-assist game in two weeks.

Clementi now has 13 goals, one assist and Pothier two goals, 12 assists.

Kannam, Hughes and Merrill each netted his eighth goal of the year, while Kannam also has five assists.

Girls' Soccer

The Andover girls, who have 12 shutouts in 13 games and have outscored the opposition 58-1 this season, started the week by wrapping up the Merrimack Valley Conference title with a 10-0 romp over winless Dracut.

Junior Michelle DeStefano was the only player with two goals as nine different girls scored.

Co-Capt. Kerry Fitzpatrick and Krissy Carothers, both in-studio guests on WCCM radio's "Let's Talk Sports" show last Saturday morning, added single goals.

Junior halfback Kathy Doran contributed one goal, two assists, while junior striker Suzanne Gianelly had one goal, one assist.

Junior halfbacks Jodi Saunders and Michelle Vetranio, Kara Slavin and Amy Brocklesby were the other markswomen, while junior striker Erin Lynch added one assist.

Nicole Ricci played the first half in the AHS net, while junior Andrea Georgian handled the final 40 minutes.

The Andover-Foxboro showdown at Foxboro may have been a preview of the Eastern Mass. Division 1 title game, Foxboro having moved up from Division 2 to Division 1 this year.

Both teams were 11-0-0 entering the contest, with Andover ranked No. 1 and Foxboro No. 2 in the most recent coaches' poll.

"It was the ultimate of tests for our girls," said coach Dick Loschi, "and I think both teams showed why they're ranked 1-2 in the division."

"We had a slight territorial advantage, and did a good job shutting down their offense."

"It was a good test for us," added Loschi. "We needed a strong opponent like Foxboro to see if we're as good as we thought."

Junior wing-fullback Brenna Cronin sparked the shutout defense by shutting down Foxboro scoring machine Lisa Fraser.

Also playing well were Kerry Fitzpatrick, who shifted to halfback for the game, and sophomore Anne Murnane.

Nicole Ricci made six saves for the Lady Warriors, while Foxboro goalie Sarah Behn was busy and sharp with 20 stops.

The Andover JVs improved to 11-0-0 with a 3-0 conquest of their Foxboro counterparts.

Kara Slavin, Kristin Simko and Amy Heseltine netted the AHS goals, while Nicole Angelos passed out two assists.

The game was costly, however, as Bridget Murphy suffered a broken ankle.

Andover, which defeated North Andover three times last year including once in the tournament, kept its hex over the Scarlet Knights by making a pair of first-half goals stand up for the 2-0 triumph.

"This was for local bragging rights," said coach Loschi, referring to the fact the neighboring towns have the area's top two girls' soccer teams this fall. "They're greatly improved over last year."

"Both teams were aggressive. It was a game of fast action and playing the body. Both teams were hungry for the win, and what made it even more interesting is that Bud McCarthy (NA coach) and I are very good friends."

The loss, before a large crowd under the lights at Lovely Field, was only the second of the season for North Andover (the first to Masconomet Regional).

Sophomore striker Lisa Allennotched her seventh goal for AHS at 23:00 of the first half, assist to sophomore linemate Jen Butt, and Jodi Saunders' unassisted goal at the 37-minute mark added insurance.

Nicole Ricci had 10 saves for the winners, Tracy Noonan 15 for North Andover, and the combined defensive efforts of Brenna Cronin and junior Lisa Berberian shackled NA high scorer Mary-Bridget Pawlik.

Senior halfback Kathleen Radulski, Andover's other radio personality, and Kerry Fitzpatrick also played well.

The versatile Fitzpatrick filled in at sweeper when junior Andrea Duffy sustained a sprained ankle in the early going.

Andover hosted Lowell yesterday, met Beverly High in a non-leaguer today, travels to Pentucket Regional in West Newbury for another non-league game next Monday, and journeys to Wilmington next Wednesday.

Cross Country

The Andover High boys fell to 1-4-0 with losses to Billerica and Methuen by identical 24-35 scores.

Varsity

Junior Jon Bicknell was the first Golden Warrior harrier across the finish line in the tri-meet, fourth overall with a 16:40 clocking for Billerica's 3.0 mile course.

Senior Co-Capt. Nathan Sullivan was sixth in 17:11 and senior Co-Capt. Glen Harrison eighth in 17:21.

Billerica's John Doherty won the race in 16:06.

The Andover girls fell to 0-5-0 in the MVC, 1-5-0 overall, with a 19-41 setback to Billerica and tough 27-28 loss to Methuen.

Senior Capt. Diane Hinchey led the AHS contingent with a fifth place finish overall, 21:53 for three miles, while junior Michelle Toth was sixth in 22:02.

Also scoring for Andover were junior Katie Boness, 11th in 22:34, and Diane Hevehan who placed 15th in 23:13.

Andover was scheduled to run at Wilmington yesterday.

Volleyball

Andover moved into a tie for third place in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference, and closed within two matches of front-runner Chelmsford, as the Golden Warriors blitzed Lowell and avenged an earlier 2-1 loss to Methuen.

Coach George Sullivan's squad has six matches left and must split them to qualify for the tournament.

The first two are against Tewksbury and Wilmington this week, and if form holds true Andover should capture both.

However, the final four are against powerhouse teams Dracut (10-2), Haverhill (8-4), Chelmsford (10-2) and Billerica (10-2). There are no guarantees among that quartet.

Last week Andover coasted to 15-3, 15-6 wins over Lowell and then slipped past Methuen 15-4, 13-15, 15-4.

Julie Salazar remains the top attacker and center of the AHS offense.

Pee Wee A's Bury Haverhill

The Pee Wee A hockey team overpowered Haverhill at Tully Arena on Saturday, Oct. 7 by a score of 11-0. Brian Flanagan scored four goals while Ryan Moynihan scored three and Bobby Daley, Timmy McGovern, Scott Munroe and Dave Wartman had one each.

Andover's defensive trio of Paul Allard, Daley and David Bailey completely shut down Haverhill and successfully limited their attack to a few sporadic shots on Andover goalie Phil Smith who proved equal to the occasion. It was his second shutout in as many weeks.

The team continued its strong team play, outskating and outpacing Methuen on Sunday en route to an 8-0 win. Moynihan scored five goals and Richie Enos, Brian Flanagan and Danny Hansberry had one each.

Allard, Bailey and Daley continued their strong defensive play. Fred Sunderland was strong in net, particularly halfway through the third period as he was forced to make a terrific save in a breakaway, thereby preserving his first shutout of the season.

Warriors Downed By Methuen

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High football team, plagued by four turnovers and burned by an impressive 221-yard, 14-point performance by Methuen senior running back Dan Fugge, dropped a 20-0 decision to the Rangers last Saturday in a heated battle at Nicholson Stadium.

Fugge and Methuen's defensive front were the stories, as they combined to hand the Golden Warriors their second shutout loss in four games.

Andover, struggling offensively with just 21 points thus far, fell to 1-2-1 overall.

Methuen won its fourth straight, improving to 4-1-0 overall, and the Rangers' starting defensive unit has allowed just one touchdown in the last 18 quarters during consecutive victories over Billerica (14-6), Wilmington (14-0), Lawrence (28-6) and Andover.

Rangers' down linemen Dave Mambro, Bill Hitchmont and Pat Keough, along with linebacker and pursuit master Dan Getchell, stuffed Andover's running game and held the Warriors to -14 yards on the ground in 21 carries.

Quarterback Steve Surette was an endangered species all afternoon, sacked four times for 30 yards in losses. He was forced to scramble on most pass plays, and late in the game was shaken up enough to miss two series of downs.

Fugge, a 6-foot, 180-pound senior fullback, enjoyed a career day with 221 yards on 33 workhorse carries. He also scored his seventh and eighth touchdowns of the season on runs of 26 and four yards, rushed for a controversial two-point conversion, punted once, parked cars and locked up the stadium when it was over.

There is no love lost between these two teams, the longstanding rivalry dating back many years, and the final few minutes of this contest disintegrated into a series of unsportsmanlike conduct penalties and verbal exchanges.

There was no violence but the Andover squad did need a precautionary police escort to the bus following the contest.

Bright Spots

The game wasn't without its bright spots for Andover.

Poetry

A $1,000 grand prize is being offered in World of Poetry's free poetry contest, open to all poets. The deadline for entering is Oct. 31. Winners will be notified on or before Dec. 15.

Send one poem only, 21 lines or less, to: World of Poetry, Dept. PR, 2431 Stockton Boulevard, Sacramento, Calif. 95817.

Cattle branding was practiced 4,000 years ago. Old tomb paintings show Egyptians branding their cattle.

Surette did stay vertical long enough to complete 7-of-16 passes for 124 yards, with athletic junior John Thompson and senior Jack Dalton do all the catching.

Thompson snagged five passes for 98 yards, including a leaping, one-handed grab and another good for 41 yards. He also had a 14-yarder negated by an illegal motion penalty.

Dalton caught two Surette tosses for 26 yards and a third pass from backup signalcaller Kurt Brucato for 10 yards.

Thompson almost broke free on the 41-yarder, but Methuen's Todd Niziak caught him from behind and dragged him down at the Methuen 25.

Late in the first half the Golden Warriors, trailing 12-0 at the time, drove to the Rangers' 16 before Niziak intercepted a pass.

In the second half Andover came as close as the Methuen 33 and 25 yard lines, but both times was forced to surrender on downs after big defensive plays by the front three, Getchell and Sean McCarthy.

Quick Start

Andover received an unfortunate microcosmic view of the frustrating afternoon in the game's first two series.

The Golden Warriors made just six yards in three rushes after taking the opening kickoff, and then a shanked punt gave Methuen possession at the AHS 33.

Fugge clicked off six yards, QB Mark Kelleher surprised everyone with a 21-yard pass to Niziak, and two plays later Fugge knifed off right tackle from the four and reached the endzone untouched.

Andover's Paul DeMarco, who made several thunderous hits and played a strong all-around defensive game, buried McCarthy on the conversion rush.

The Rangers, leading 6-0 after just three minutes, threatened for more immediately when Andover fumbled the ensuing kickoff into the waiting arms of special teams' member Jason Amiss.

Fugge was stopped for no gain, however, and three straight Kelleher passes went astray.

Warriors

Methuen hiked its lead to 12-0 on its third possession, moving 64 yards in four plays following an Andover punt.

Fugge carried three times for 30 yards, Andover was whistled for offside, and then McCarthy raced the final 29 yards on a brilliant individual effort.

McCarthy sliced through the line to the left side, then made a sudden cut to the right and outraced the AHS secondary to the endzone.

The Golden Warriors penetrated Methuen territory for the first time on the initial play of the second quarter, but this drive was quickly repulsed when Hitchmont tossed Surette for an eight-yard loss and Getchell stopped Chris Adams on a third-down play.

Fugge then led the Rangers from their own 16, following Kurt Brucato's 44-yard punt, to the Andover 13 with successive runs of eight, nine, 31, three, 17 and three yards.

Thompson saved a touchdown when he caught Fugge on the 31-yarder, and an apparent TD pass from Kelleher to Mike Berryman was wiped out by a procedure penalty.

Junior Curt Soloman then intercepted Kelleher at the AHS six yard line to halt this threat.

Hectic Minute

Both teams had serious scoring bids in the frantic final minute of the half.

The Warriors caught a break when Stefan Kelly pounced on a fumbled punt at the Andover 40.

Thompson made his acrobatic one-handed catch for a 17-yard gain, and the ball moved all the way to the Rangers' 16 following an 11-yard toss to Dalton and subsequent roughing-the-passer penalty.

A quick look-in pass intended for Dalton was picked off by Niziak, the well-timed defensive play halting Andover's momentum and perhaps turning the entire game around.

Fugge then ripped off a 21-yard run, and the final play of the half saw Kelleher unload a 43-yard bomb to Geno DiFiore who was collared at the Andover 11 yard line by Surette as time ran out.

The Golden Warriors moved to the Methuen 33 early in the third quarter, a 24-yard pass from Surette to Thompson leading the way, but a juggled snap and three incomplete passes halted the locals.

Methuen took control at its 38 and drove 62 yards in six plays for the final touchdown, the payoff a 26-yard up-the-middle burst by Fugge.

Kelleher also completed a 14-yard pass to Mike Batts, and a personal foul penalty against Andover handed the Rangers a first down.

Fugge's two-point conversion rush was disputed briefly, as he circled right end and was pulled down at the front corner of the endzone.

Early in the fourth period Methuen was checked at the AHS 35, Pat Duffy and sophomore Matt Perry combining to stop Fugge on a fourth-down run.

Andover moved to the Methuen 25 after the 41-yard bomb to Thompson, but three consecutive plays produced losses as the Warriors eventually surrendered on downs near midfield.

Brucato and junior Pat Finn saw some late-game time at quarterback.

Methuen finished with wide edges in first downs (12-7), yards rushing (266 to -14), total yardage (344-120) and scrimmage plays (52-47).

Wilmington

The Golden Warriors return home tomorrow night for just their second game at Lovely Field this fall.

The opposition will be provided by winless Wilmington, an 0-5-0 team whose basic problem this year has been putting points on the board.

The Wildcats have also played five teams with winning records and a combined 20-5 ledger, including undefeated Chelmsford (14-0 loss), undefeated Dracut (26-7 last week), Methuen (14-0), Central Catholic (21-14) and Acton-Boxboro (23-9).

Both Chelmsford and Dracut struggled to beat Wilmington, the Lions leading just 6-0 at halftime and the Middies locked in a 7-7 struggle at intermission.

Kristen Sullivan and junior Cate Doherty served well in both matches, each contributing five service aces against Methuen, and the leading setters were Allison Wright and junior Grace Park.

Coach Sullivan also applauded the hard work of Laura Hebeisen in both matches.

"I'm really pleased because the kids are playing so hard," said Sullivan. "Hey, we're reaching for the stars (tournament) and maybe we'll get there."

"There is some real volleyball talent on this team. Julie Salazar is playing unbelievably well. She's unbeatable 1-on-1 at the net, so opposing teams have been double and triple-blocking her. That just allows the rest of our girls to contribute more, and we've set up a pretty effective offense."

"The victory over Methuen was satisfying, because in watching films of our first match I could see our girls weren't sharp. This time they were really up for the match."

At least in the first and third games, both won 15-4.

"We had a little team discussion after the second game (15-13 loss)," explained Sullivan. "There are few excuses for beating a team 15-4 one game and then struggling in the next game. I just wanted to make sure everyone was playing up to her potential."

The Andover JVs also won twice, improving to 10-2 overall for coach Art Iworsley.

Field Hockey

Andover fell to 2-8-3 overall following its two losses and one tie.

"We're playing well but we're not winning because we're not scoring," said coach Sandy Lunt.

Kelly Moynihan pocketed the lone goal against North Andover, and netminder Lee Dziadosz played well in the 2-1 setback.

Exhibit

The paintings of Dorothea Smith of North Reading will be on display each weekday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. through Oct. 28 at the American Mutual Insurance Companies in Wakefield. The public is welcome to view the exhibit.

Dolphins Up Record To 3-0

Coach Red Harris' Bancroft Dolphins raised their league-leading record to 3-0 with a 13-0 victory over a tough Central Colt squad and the West Andover Redskins moved into second place at 2-1 with a 13-6 win over the Indian Ridge Raiders.

Dolphins' touchdowns were scored by Todd Harris on a two-yard plunge and Matt Trede on an eight-yard run. Pete Daniels made good on the extra point. Matt Wolcott, Matt Marvin, Mark Sutter, Dave Kelmer, Tom Connors and Matt Blake contributed offensively. The Dolphins' charge was led by Justin Connors with a fumble recovery and a quarterback sack, John Shea with an interception and Mark LaStrina, Kurt Stockwood, Mike Yoder and Scott Blumsack.

Top offensive performers for the Colts were Colin Arsenault, Gene Doran, Andy Novelline, Danny Atkins, Brendon O'Donahue and Jeff Bremner. Defensive standouts were Toby Guzowski, Peter O'Leary, Brian Landry, Brian Hough, Waylan Locke, Greg Litchfield and Matt Walsh.

The Redskins rode to victory behind the touchdowns of Adam Gray and Tallis Sidebotham, both on short bursts up the middle. Dana McCann scored an extra point. The offense was led by Chris Dunn, Tim Campbell, Dana McCann, Andy Shulman, Steve Kokinos and Joshua Pakstis. Lee Baron and Marc Tropeano, each with an interception, and Adam Goddess and Richard DeAngelis led the defense.

The lone Raiders' touchdown was scored by Richie Meyers on a dive play.

Top performances were turned in by Brian Adams, Chad Collins, Kevin Carey, James Perry, David Godwin and Bobby Ellis on offense and Jason Benedict, Robert Derba, Justin Rosenblatt, John Shaugnessy and Matt Weightman on defense.

Bantams On Roll

The Andover Bantams continued their solid play with two wins, a come-from-behind tie and a heartbreaking last-second loss. In a reversal of their earlier meeting, Andover dominated Medford in a 5-1 win on Saturday. Ed Thistle had one goal and two assists and Bob Sheehan, Jason Loomer, Jay Stella and Keogh Lutsch chipped in single goals. Don Fraser, Steve Neal and Brendan Finneran posted assists. Mike Daley played a superb game in the nets.

Andover got off to a slow start against Masco at the Volpe Arena, but started to click in the second and third periods as they skated away from a 1-1 first-period tie to a 7-3 win. Sheehan and Thistle recorded two goals each while Joe Liguori, Bill Owens and Lutsch each scored once. Assists went to Kevin Barry, Peter O'Shea, Finneran, Stella and Fraser. Bob Kenny played well in goal and Bob Dalton bolstered the defense as he returned to action.

Haverhill jumped to a quick 5-1 lead but the Bantams never quit and came back to tie the game at five sparked by Daley's goaltending and Thistle's hat trick. Fraser and Barry added goals and Jamie Hibmer and Lutsch added assists. John Constantine and Dan Kenny helped with their solid defense.

North Andover scored with one second left to eke out a 2-1 victory in a closely played defensive game. Andover led on a goal by John Melillo with an assist from Liguori near the end of the first period. North Andover deposited a rebound to tie the score at the end of the second period. Just as the game appeared to be heading for a tie, North Andover shook loose on a breakaway, overcame a backchecking effort and got off a scoring shot in time to beat the buzzer.

Compete In Tennis Challenge

Meeting the top players in the tennis circuit and playing on their courts is a tennis lover's dream.

Two Andover residents, siblings Jeffrey and Jennifer Brodie of Deerberry Lane, did just that. They played in the Equitable Family Tennis Challenge at the U.S. Open in Flushing Meadows, N.Y., along with 96 teams from across the country.

Jeffrey and Jennifer competed in the brother-sister category of the competition.

They beat Virginia in the first round. But the family team wasn't as lucky in the second round. They lost to a team from Honolulu, who eventually won the entire tournament. "They were really a strong team," Jennifer said.

But, losing didn't ruin the fun. "We had a great time," she said.

To qualify, Jeffrey and Jennifer won two tournaments—a local one at Cedar-dale Athletic Club in Haverhill and a regional one held in Boston.

Tennis isn't new to the Brodies. They've both been playing since they were about 10 years old.

Jeffrey, 18, is a freshman at Union College in Schenectady, N.Y. He graduated from Brooks School in North Andover, where he was the school's number one tennis player during his junior and senior year.

Jennifer, 16, is a junior at Andover High School and a member of the tennis team. She's a Merrimack Valley All-Scholastic player.

Their parents, Dr. Evan and Paula Brodie, also play the game. And this isn't the first time the family has been involved in the Family Tennis Challenge.

Last year, Paula and Jeffrey, competed as a mother-son combination.

Instructional Program Seeking Young Skiers

The Andover Ski Club, an instructional program for boys and girls from 4 to high school age, is looking for young skiers from Andover and surrounding communities. The club is an organization of families dedicated to providing competitive skiing in a fun and supportive atmosphere. The club offers two means of competition: the Buddy Werner program and the ABM (Andover/Bradford/Merrimack Valley) program. Many children participate in both programs and others choose one.

The Buddy Werner program is a league where the emphasis is placed on the fun of ski racing. All levels of ability are encouraged to participate and the club competes against five other Buddy Werner programs in eastern Massachusetts. Races, which are held on Sundays, take place at Prospect Hill in Waltham, Nashoba Valley in Westboro and at the club's home hill, Bradford Hill in Haverhill.

The ABM program is a more competitive league where the emphasis is placed on developing skiing ability so racers can go on to higher levels of competition. ABM represents the ski clubs from Andover, Bradford and Merrimack Valley. Races are held on Saturdays at Bradford Hill.

ABM clubs have pooled their resources to maintain the highest quality coaching in the area. All Andover club members are invited to attend two nights of on-hill coaching. The ABM coaches also run the Saturday races. The Andover Ski Club provides separate coaches to supervise the Buddy Werner Sunday races.

Both leagues divide the competition by sex and age levels: 7 and under, 8 and 9, 10 and 11, 12 and 13 and 14 and over. Parents are encouraged to participate by gate keeping, timing, etc.

For further information, contact Mary Durant, Gemini Circle, or Kathy Greico, Cuba Street, or write Andover Ski Club, Box 433, Andover, Mass. 01810.

The ski club will sponsor a ski equipment sale on Sunday, Nov. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at West Middle School, Shawsheen Road. The sale will include new and used equipment and ski clothing. New equipment will be offered at a substantial savings.

Document Center Gets Grant

The Northeast Document Conservation Center in Andover has been awarded two grants from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities totaling $66,135. The awards include $56,135 in merit aid support to fund ongoing cultural programs and services to take place in Massachusetts. According to the council, the purpose of merit aid is to support "organizations with a record of achievement and improvement in the presentation of high quality programs for the public." NEDCC was also awarded $10,000 for historic conservation to provide subsidized on-site surveys of conservation needs to repositories in Massachusetts and to present workshops on the basics of collections care in cooperation with the New England Museum Association. The workshops will take place in March.

The Northeast Document Conservation Center has been offering preservation planning surveys since 1981 through its field service office. The surveys enable libraries, historical organizations, museums and other repositories to prevent deterioration of collections, set priorities for long-term preservation programs and make informed decisions about the use of professional conservation services. The surveys consist of a one-day site visit by a member of NEDCC's field service team, followed by a detailed report of observations and recommendations. The surveyor examines building conditions, collections and storage and handling conditions in order to identify potential hazards to collections and measures needed to maintain collections in the best condition possible. Specific goals and priorities based on the physical condition of collections will be suggested and steps needed to implement preservation measures will be outlined.

The Northeast Document Conservation Center is a non-profit regional conservation center specializing in the treatment of paper and related materials including documents, books, photographs and art on paper. NEDCC performs paper conservation, book-binding, photoduplication of historic photographic materials and microfilming on a fee-for-service basis. It also makes available expertise for surveys, workshops and disaster assistance.

For further information on the March workshops on collections care, contact NEMA after Jan. 1. For further information on preservation planning surveys or other services offered by NEDCC, contact Karen Motylewski, Director of Field Services, NEDCC, 24 School St., Andover, MA 01810.

Symposium On Drugs, Crime To Be Held Saturday

The Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce will host a day-long symposium on crime and drugs on Saturday, Oct. 22, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Robert Frost School, 33 Hamlet St., Lawrence, to create a regional battle plan to combat drug-related crime.

Arthur Miller, noted Harvard University Law School professor and host of the TV series "Miller's Court," will moderate and lead the discussion. The symposium will be co-sponsored by Lawrence Organized Neighborhood Groups and the City of Lawrence.

The symposium will bring representatives of federal, state and local government, law enforcement officials, judges, prosecutors, criminal justice experts, community groups, organized labor, the clergy and business leaders together to formulate a coordinated plan of action to fight the growing problem of crime in drugs in the Greater Lawrence area.

The afternoon session will involve the audience and panelists in developing a community agenda for addressing the problems of drugs and drug-related crime.

The "Miller's Court" portion will be videotaped by Heritage Cablevision and Continental Cablevision and be shown on their local channel. The tapes will also be available to other chambers of commerce and communities interested in working on the drug and crime problem.

John E. Thompson, Jr., chairman and CEO of Merrimack Paper Company and president of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, said that "this event will be an action-planning meeting, not a discussion of the more dimension of the problem. Everyone knows that crime and drugs are bad and getting worse."

Larry Smith, chamber executive vice president, reports that Miller will lead a panel discussion aimed at identifying specific problems and solutions to getting drug dealers and those committing drug-related crime off the streets.

The public is invited. There is no charge, but reservations are needed. Call the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce.

Jaffarian's Reports Zero Price Increase

The official sales start of the 1989 model year Volvo has a unique feature: no price increase.

Gary Jaffarian, owners of Jaffarian's, 312 River St., Haverhill, explained he was very pleased to be able to offer Volvo customers the new models at old prices.

"Volvo has maintained its position as the volume leader among the European imports through an extremely competitive period," Jaffarian said. "Holding our prices at '88 levels will further enhance Volvo's competitive position."

The entry level model in the 1989 Volvo line is the 240 DL with manual transmission carrying a manufacturer's suggested retail price of $17,250. At the most exclusive end of the Volvo spectrum is the limited production 780 Coupe. For 1989, the Coupe may be ordered with a high output turbocharged four-cylinder engine. It will be priced at $38,975.

In an effort to bring the 700 series within the reach of a larger market segment, Volvo announced a new series of sedans and wagons designated 740 GL. Prices for this line begin at $19,985. The Volvo 740 GLE Series will receive a new 16-valve engine for 1989. As this model will not be produced until early next year, final pricing has not been established.

Down The Years

and flood rehabilitation has been approved by the W.P.A. authorities.

If the water from your faucet looked as if it had tons of rust in it over the weekend it was not because of the copper sulphate which Joe McCarthy has been putting in to eliminate the fishy taste, but rather it was because of a bad leak on Shawsheen road which the Board of Public Works had repaired on Sunday.

The Andover Brass Band has resumed its regular meetings on Monday evenings at 8 o'clock.

Though the use of the Memorial Hall Library has been somewhat affected since the 21st by the lack of electricity in many homes, it issued 6,176 books for use outside the building.

25 Years Ago — October 1963

A gigantic "treasure hunt" will take place downtown tomorrow and Saturday. Over 5,000 residents have been receiving special keys this week - keys which may unlock a treasure chest in one of the many downtown stores.

The Union Service Committee of the Andover Council of Churches has announced that plans are now complete for its first annual Reformation Sunday service.

A minor earthquake — recorded as having originated in the Cape Cod area — rumbled in Andover late Wednesday morning. Houses shook slightly, but there was no recorded evidence of damage from the tremor. At the Townsman office, the tremor seemed to be about twice the duration, and somewhat more noticeable, than a sonic boom.

An old two-story barn at 78 Maple ave., came within a minute or two of becoming a major conflagration last Sunday, when blazing chicken coops hurled flames up its high, dry sides. The ancient building was once the combination butcher shop and stable for J.P. Wakefield, who owned and operated stores around the turn of the century.

Excise tax bills are far behind schedule this year, according to Tax Collector James P. Christie. He has received only 3,632 bills from the state, with a gross value of $156,184. Last year at this time, 8,300 of 11,000 bills customarily handled here had been sent.

A plan for recruiting and orienting substitute teachers will be instituted by the administration of the local public schools.

10 Years Ago — October 1978

Andover police late Wednesday afternoon were being joined by the District Attorney's office probing the death of a man found shot in the head in an abandoned cow barn on the former Shattuck farm property.

Facing a 34-item agenda containing a variety of items, voters will assemble Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium of East Junior High school for the October town meeting. It is expected that the session may extend over two nights.

Andover High seniors will once again be asking the school committee for an early release from school, Diane Clendaniel told them Tuesday, so seniors can get a jump on jobs to help them on to college.

Another industrial firm has indicated its intention to locate within Andover's industrial areas. Harris Environmental Systems, Inc. of Winchester has discussed with the Industrial Development commission its plans to locate a 37,000-square-foot building in the Lowell Junction area, adjacent to property now developed by Wyeth Laboratories.

The R.H. White Construction Co., is making repairs to the pretreatment portion of the water treatment plant. The emergency repairs were authorized after a recent cleaning operation revealed a deterioration of some of the support piers.

The highest price quoted for a share of stock was $38,400 for a Swiss drug company in 1976.

Rainbows may be seen at night. Just as the sun shines through a sheet of falling rain to cause a rainbow, the moon can cause the same effect.

BUSINESS PROFILES

Leo J. Couture, Jr., Manager of Radiator Repair Department
Leo Couture & Sons

Winter is almost here and it's time to take precautions to prevent getting stuck in snow and ice. Get your car or truck into top working condition at Leo J. Couture and Sons, experts in auto maintenance.

There are many reasons to visit this auto shop. Winter presents its own unique set of problems. If the antifreeze is not checked, you could be caught with water in your cooling system, which could lead to freezing in the hoses and the engine. Before you crack the block or blow a head gasket, see Couture and Sons to get the answer to your radiator problems.

If you don't have your cooling system checked, you are running the risk of corrosion, clogging, leakage, worn hoses and belts. If the cooling fan clutch hasn't been checked or changed in two and a half years, you're running the risk of overheating in bumper-to-bumper traffic or at speeds of thirty miles per hour or below.

In addition to radiator repair, Leo J. Couture & Sons provides a twenty-four towing service. They will also pay cash for your junk cars and late model wrecks, whose parts then become inventory for their junk yard. They will be happy to come to your door to take that wreck off your hands.

Whether you need a tow, are buying or selling junk parts or need a radiator repair, call Leo J. Couture & Sons at 685-9703 for radiator repair, or 687-9527 for other services. They are located at 54 Medford Street, Lawrence, just behind the Essex Street Plaza Demoulas. They are open Monday through Friday from 7:00 to 4:00 and Saturdays from 7:00 to 1:00.

VDT Vision

Common complaints related to the use of visual display terminals include eye irritation, fatigue and headaches. Studies indicate that most of these problems are related to improper visual correction or to improper workspace or VDT design.

"People may need to have their glasses adjusted so they can see at that distance," says Eugene Ciccarelli, president of the Massachusetts Society of Eye Physicians and Surgeons, pointing out that computer screens are usually farther away than regular reading material. He also notes that if a VDT is not positioned correctly, bifocal wearers may have to crane their necks to see the screen, resulting in muscle strain.

VDTs, claim some users, have led to nearsightedness. But, explains Ciccarelli, this is more likely to be caused by the inability to adjust for seeing at various distances.

He does add that while using a computer the eyes may become tired and temporarily not be able to focus as well. This is similar to what happens when reading a book or doing other close-up work. Glancing up now and then can help to relieve this tiredness.

Stress, boredom and discontent with work can also contribute to eye fatigue. (Isn't it interesting to note that although televisions are similarly constructed, few complain of eye problems even after hours of viewing?)

The Massachusetts Society of Eye Physicians and Surgeons offers these tips on alleviating eye discomfort caused by VDTs:

- If you wear glasses, particularly bifocals or reading glasses, have them checked for the distance at which you view the VDT.

- Adjust seating and the angle of VDT for comfort. The screen should be 14 to 20 inches away and just below eye level.

- Minimize reflected glare from windows and bright lights or buy anti-glare screens.

- Take periodic rest breaks.

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

By George Schruender, G.R.I.
Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

COORDINATING THE MOVES

The house you're selling settles Friday morning at 11:00. The house you're buying settles that afternoon at 3:00. The house your sellers are buying settles on Monday. Each seller is normally obligated to have his house vacant and reasonably clean for the settlement. As buyers, however, you can get access to your new home once settlement is completed.

If you find yourself faced with a game of musical moving vans, you may want to negotiate with your buyers or sellers to remain in your old house for a few extra days or to move your belongings into the new home a little early. If you do this, be sure to get a written agreement that states the amount of rent, the move-in or move-out date, and other details like utilities, insurance, and a damage escrow. If you must make special arrangements for your move, let your Realtor know and get the details worked out as early as possible before settlement.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Realty USA Schruender Real Estate. Call us at 685-5000 or stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

Young Volunteers Honored

By Melissa M. De Meo

Young people can make a difference. That's the idea of several community service programs set up at Merrimack Valley schools like Andover High and Phillips Academy.

The students do everything from serving food at soup kitchens to helping disadvantaged kids with their homework.

Last week, their service was applauded by the Community Service Network of New England. Oct. 13 was a national day of recognition of youth service, and the local celebration was hosted by The Lawrence Eagle-Tribune.

Three students spoke about their volunteer work. "It's a moving experience," said Andover High senior Natalie Belkin, who works at Windrush Farms in Boxford, where she helps young people with disabilities to ride horses. "You lead them around; you cheer them on. It's a lot of fun."

Mimi Maltagliati, a senior at Phillips Academy, works at a variety of organizations like the M.I. Restorative Center and Bread and Roses soup kitchen in Lawrence. She also helped organize a sleep-over at PA for special needs children about a month ago.

Central Catholic High senior Robert Benedetto is chairman of the Genesis program at St. Augustine Church, which "adopted" an orphanage in Tiawana, Mexico. "You might say, 'Why Mexico when there's so much to do here?'" Benedetto said. "In Mexico, the government does not fund this orphanage at all. And we see ourselves as part of a world community. Although it's far away, we see it as close to our hearts."

Benedetto said a group of Genesis members visited the orphanage about three years ago. "We got close to the kids," he said. Genesis has been the largest single donator to the orphanage, he said.

Rep. Susan Tucker was at Thursday's session to congratulate the students for their efforts. "When you give, it comes back to you," she said. "You're a credit to your school; you're a credit to your parents and you're a credit to yourselves."

Tucker asked the students if community service should be a requirement for graduation. Most said no. "It comes from the heart," Maltagliati said. "You should do it because you want to, not because you have to."

Andover's superintendent of schools said kids today are "brighter, more caring, more sensitive." Dr. Kenneth Seifert cited the West Elementary School sixth-graders who have put in about 25,000 hours of community service work.

Gretchen Arntz, director of the Big Brother/Big Sister program said the student volunteers have been "warm and caring and flexible. They've really made a difference."

Bus Company

dow, cracking the glass, Andover State Trooper Mark Caron told DPU hearing officers. The two men were treated and released at a nearby hospital.

Branconnier, who has been involved in two other minor bus accidents since last May, was subsequently asked to resign by Merrimac officials.

Merrimac attorney Michael DaFanti produced company mechanics and work orders, claiming the bus had been fully repaired the day before. The DPU inspection slip had only required the vehicle be fixed, and didn't require a second inspection, DaFanti pointed out.

After the accident, neither Caron nor Merrimac employees could find anything wrong with the brakes. A follow-up DPU inspection on Sept. 28 showed the brakes in good working order.

The DPU also charged Merrimac with failing to report the accident.

DuPeil said it wasn't until after she talked with company officials about the collision that the DPU received a letter from Merrimac postmarked Sept. 22.

Under state law, the bus company is required to report any accident involving "loss of life or serious personal injury or considerable property damage."

However, DaFanti maintained the Sept. 20 accident didn't involve any of these factors.

Both victims were treated in the emergency room and released the same day, said the attorney. Earlier, Trooper Caron had recalled neither vehicle had sustained any damage worse than minor dents.

DaFanti twice asked hearing officers Margaret Lynch and Timothy J. Shelvin Jr. to dismiss the charges due to lack of evidence. Lynch refused both times and later indicated the decision could be made in about two weeks.
